PRESS RELEASE
For Immediate Release

Barbara Thompson
Director of Public Relations and Marketing,
Wallace Community College
(334) 556-2629
bthompson@wallace.edu

Wallace EMS instructor Becky Burke shows a young visitor how to properly perform chest compressions. The demonstration was held at a recent Public Safety Day at Old Navy.

Wallace EMS Students Participate in Public Safety Day

Dothan, Ala.--Wallace Community College Emergency Medical Services students recently participated at a Public Safety Day sponsored by Old Navy in Dothan. Students Carolanne Carter and Eric Williams demonstrated hands-on CPR, and invited visitors to practice on the CPR manikins. “The goal is to teach the public to call 911 and initiate compressions by pressing hard and fast in the center of the chest,” said EMS instructor Becky Burke. “This buys the victim time until help arrives.”

The event was held on Saturday, September 15.

—END—

CUTLINES:
Wallace EMS instructor Becky Burke shows a young visitor how to properly perform chest compressions. The demonstration was held at a recent Public Safety Day at Old Navy.