

WALLACE
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Alabamians who want to pursue a career in iron or steel manufacturing have a new opportunity to earn an industry-sponsored scholarship to one of the state's community colleges.

The Alabama Iron & Steel Council (AISC) has launched a new scholarship initiative that will award two community college students a $2,000 scholarship to begin classes in the Summer or Fall 2019 semesters. New scholarships will be awarded in subsequent years, and existing scholarships will be eligible for renewal until the student's coursework is complete.

Students who apply for the scholarship must enroll in an Alabama Community College and should select a mechanical or electrical industrial maintenance program, or similar course of study, that pertains to iron or steel production.

Interested students should visit AlabamaIronAndSteelCouncil.com to learn more and apply. The deadline to apply is May 1, 2019.
